STANFORD UNIVERSITY

March 2005

Allen Cheng

Dear Allen,

Congratulations! It is with great pleasure that I offer you admission to the Stanford University Class of 2009.

Your thoughtful application and remarkable accomplishments convinced us that you have the intellectual energy, imagination and talent to flourish at Stanford. Among the more than 20,000 applications we read, your distinguished record of academic excellence and personal achievement stood out. We are thrilled to welcome you to the Stanford community and look forward to the unique and extraordinary contributions we know you will make to the intellectual and extracurricular life of our campus.

The exciting journey will begin soon. As Stanford is probably only one of several colleges you will consider in the coming weeks, I hope you will use the time to learn more about each one. We invite you to join us in Autumn Weekend 2005, a three-day program that will introduce you to the intellectual life and dynamic campus life that define Stanford. Information about this event is enclosed. Whatever decision you make, we ask that you complete the enclosed admission response card and return it to us by the postmark deadline of May 2, 2005. Should you decide to matriculate at Stanford — and we sincerely hope you do — we will send enrollment information to you in late May.

While we have every reason to believe you will complete this school year successfully, remember that your admission is contingent upon your continued strong academic performance in the program you proposed to us in your application.

Once again, I extend my congratulations on your admission to Stanford and welcome you to the Stanford family.

Sincerely,

Anna Marie Ferrer
Director of Admission
